Pre-Hash

A return to the location of the rained out hash of 8 weeks ago (Run #314 on 05/09) but this time the weather was looking favourable. The hashers started arriving and amassed to a total of 49 by the time for the off. Some hashers arrived in the spirit of Halloween and other chose to arrive late with excuses of poor signage and cows on the road. Tinks gave the usual pre-hash briefing advising of three trails and that it would be in the hounds interest to follow paper rather than short cut in the direction of the FRB's and FWR's or you may find yourself on a longer trail than planned. Tinks assured us that the trails would not be as taxing as last weeks CAH3 hash. As a result of the late arrivals the pack set off 5 minutes late

The Trails

Trails set by Tinks and Golden Delicious.

The pack set off along the side of the lake to the first check which was quickly broken and then on to the second check. A little confusion here as paper was found for one of the in trails but the true path was found and then on to the third check. A quick right and onto the short walk split. At this point many opted for the long walk/runners trail but the usual slow walk contingent went for the short walk (Green trail 3.0 km). As Hare Tinks was on station at this point he opted to take the short walk and break the checks for the slow contingent otherwise there was a possibility they would be late home. Hare Tinks then went to the run/walk split where it was evident the runners (Yellow Trail, total 4.4 km) and walkers (Cyan Trail, total 3.3 km) had had no trouble following trail to this point. From here on, Hare Tinks returned to the start to find most of the walkers and runners enjoying a cold beverage and scoffing snacks prepared by Golden Delicious. As it turned out the short walkers were the last to return due to the difference in the two walkers trails being only 300 metres
