Pre-Run

The run site this week was located at the rear exit/entrance to the Phetchaburi College of Agriculture and Technology, a location used on several occasions in the past. With a new start time of 5:00pm a larger pack was gathering with several first timers and returnees. The pre-run briefing by acting GM Pussy Peddler was called to order and the hares for the day, Cock in a Frock, and Head Ballcock, advised the pack on features of the trail. Usual markings, possible false trails, Short and Long walk with a Rambo Loop. With the briefing over the pack headed out on trail

The Trail

The trail headed down the road towards the bypass and the the college grounds. The trail then bore right and with a false trail to the left. The true trail headed in a northerly direction and then left. A great opportunity for those who know the area to take a short cut home. The trail continued skirting around various planted areas before coming out on the road from the Chum Phol Road junction. At this point the Long Walk and the Runners trail headed on over in a easterly direction towards the hill. The short walk continueing on the road back to the start point. The runner trail headed trough the eucalyptus trees and then along the base of the hill before heading back to the start.
