Pre-Run

The pack this week included 15 hashers from the Chiang Mai Happy Hash and the hash site was a favorite of Hare Jock Twat's at the lake side near Hua Hin Hospital 5

The Trail

The trail headed out eastwards towards the old quarry and passing through various rubbish dump piles and then across scrub land heading in a more northerly direction. With several checks on route the trail then headed back towards the lake and the main track that follows the powerlines. The trails then headed north along this track before breaking right into tree cover and then back onto the powerline track. The trail now headed back towards the Red Mountain development and continuing in a southerly direction. With enough road running allowing the FRBs to get well ahead before the trail turned left into thicker shiggy as the trail headed back towards the lake and finished by circumnavigating the lake back to the car park and well-earned cold beers. The walkers had a less strenuous course with a split option on the powerline track and headed back towards the lake and rejoin the trail back to the cars.
