Pre-Hash

The Hares this week were the same as for the last H2H3 Run and the run site was located the opposite side of the Sam Phan Nam Floating Market Road along a rather rutted dirt road. Luckily for the Hares the rain stayed away during the week otherwise the planned run site would most certainly have had to be relocated.

When Tinks arrived the beer truck was already on station and shortly thereafter the iceman, Butt Out, arrived. The gathering hounds helped Biermeister Jock Twat to unload and set up the icing of the beers and softies. The Hares had opted to try out the Aussie Bar for the first time and to help with diminishing waiting time upon arrival Blowmedry was taking pre-orders and handing out number tags. By the time Tinks called the hounds to order for the pre-run briefing there were 40 assembled hashers, which included 4 virgin hashers.

Hugmananny proceeded with the briefing advising of a fairly flat run, a short walk (4.6 km), a long walk (6.2 km) and a Runners trail (8.6 km). No particular hazards, a few barking dogs but not aggressive, possible wet feet as we were close to the river, and some itchy bean around check 5.

The Trail

With briefing over the pack set off to the first check which was within the first 500 metres. At this point returner Stitch in Time found the false trail and so the pack headed in the direction of the river. This proved to be wrong also as the trail went in a similar direction to the false trail and Stitch was again at the back. The pack managed to break the next 5 checks until the run/walk split.

The Trail according to the Hares: Runners 8.6 km, Long Walk 6.2 km, Short Walk 4.6 km

At this point the runners consisting of Stitch, Mudman, Brambles, Bent Banana, Andy, Tinks, Davey Delayed & Windinhishair continued through a further 9 checks to the merge point with the long walk. Check 7 proved to be a problem although Andy most probably found the trail he was silent calling as the remaining runners searched a large area. Eventual a loud enough call was heard and the small pack set off again on trail only to be confused at check 10. A phone call to Hugs resulted in him showing up at the check in his truck and redirecting the pack to check 12 thereby missing out check 11.

The Runners Trail according to Tinks: Runners 9.0 km

From here it was fairly easy going although at the merge Tinks, Davey Delayed and Windinhishair were on the opposite bank to Brambles and Bent Banana having missed the well hidden devious right turn which was very visible from the Walkers trail. It was at this point that lost Hasher Andy (see Post Trail Notes) was last seen by Mudman and Stitch. The on home was lengthy and the paper was difficult to find at times. The last runners finishing some 100 minutes after starting other than Andy who was found and brought back by his wife to the circle almost 2.5 hrs after starting.

Post Trail and Circle

As on the previous H2H3 Hash after lengthy trails for the long walk and runners, the pack were in good spirits as they got stuck into Karaoke Queen's dips and bread. The mature cheese and egg mix was very tasty. It became apparent as darkness drew in that Andy was not back and eventually wife Jenny went out in their van looking for him followed closely by Hugs. It transpired that Andy managed to get to the main road, found a house and convince the occupants to lend him a phone so that he could call the wife and be picked up. As the search was on and the darkness drawing in fast and some hashers more concerned with getting the circle going Tinks eventually called the pack to order for the customary circle and rewards were handed out to the following:

Hash Snacks: Karaoke Queen

Virgin Hashers: Caroline, Joe & Carla

Late Payment: Bent Banana

200 Runs: Mudman - actually 208 on the day

No Hash Names: Alan & Susan - remain No Name Alan & Sue until more appropriate names are endorsed by the pack.

Lost Hashers: Andy
