Thank you to Scotch Tape & Jock Twat for stepping in at the last minute to Hare today's trails. And Happy Trails I'm sure they will be!... particularly for Scotch Tape who I believe has something particular to celebrate today?

At my first Hash when I first caught sight of this strapping big fella I was sure the first thing he would say to me was "we're aw doomed"!... And I was right! However, as for a more likely "lookalike" I have been doing some mental arithmetic and believe Scotch Tape was actually conceived on the same night that Rudolph Hess parachuted into Scotland.

Legend has it Rudolph came armed with a bag of silver which was swiped from him by a lady of the highlands with intimate knowledge of the lowlands... in exchange for mutual copulation. After comparing pictures of Rudolph to Scotch Tape, it does not take too much conspiracy theory to join the dots and conclude Scotch Tape is indeed the bastard of a Nazi Commander and a Scottish Harlot.

If I'm wrong then at least we all know I'm half right... he is after all a bastard!... and a very likeable one at that!

(I rest my case)!
